

Divine interior design

Decorating
'your home,
your way'

BY ROBERT GALSTER

Contributing Writer

"WHEN I give seminars I tell my audience when a decorator comes into your home and tells you 'everything must go' the first thing that should go is the decorator."

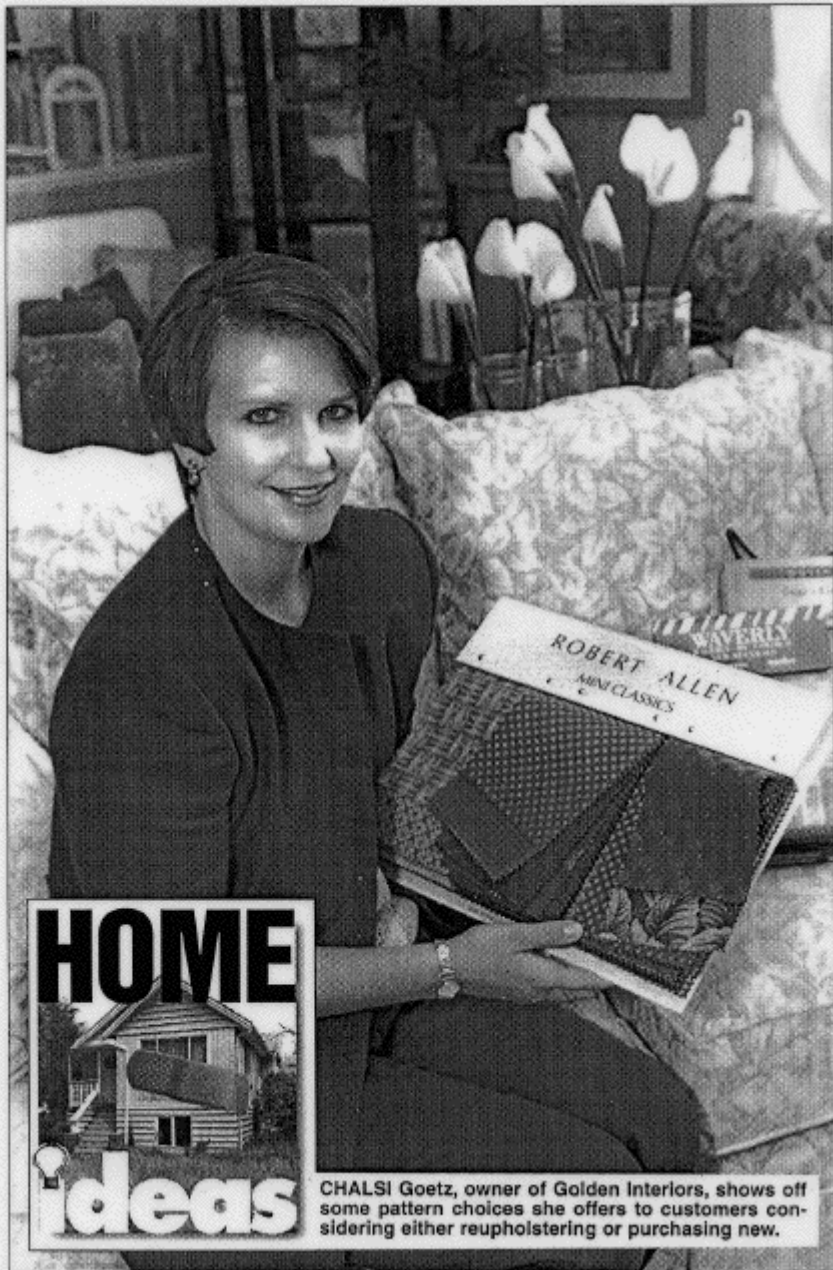

Those are the words of Chalsi Goetz, owner of North Vancouver's Golden Interiors for the past 10 years. They fit in nicely with Goetz's motto for running her business: Your Home, Your Way.

Offering an extensive variety of quality products and services, Golden Interiors seeks to satisfy all of its clients' decorating needs. A staff of four full-time decorators, a full-time installer and painter in addition to access to a variety of trades ensures that clients need not go any further.

Goetz adds that the experience of her staff leads to not only a quality outcome, but also serves to satisfy a very important intangible.

"Among us we have about 100 years of experience ... that means a lot to clients," said Goetz.

The company's cozy Marine Drive showroom displays samples of different furniture lines including upholstered sofas, chairs as well as tables, accessories and art. Visiting clients can see the quality of the merchandise and then order the size, style and color from the many catalogues. Thousands of fabrics

CHALSI Goetz, owner of Golden Interiors, shows off some pattern choices she offers to customers considering either reupholstering or purchasing new.